

■ COMPANIES / PROPERTY

Rebosis Property Fund gets new chair and directors

New board tenure policy means that directors are not allowed to serve for more than nine years

🔒 BL PREMIUM

31 MAY 2022 - 20:15 by DENISE MHLANGA

Rebosis founding independent non-executive chair, Dr Anna Mokgokong, has retired from the board.
Picture: SUPPLIED

Rebosis Property Fund has appointed independent nonexecutive director and deputy chair Kameel Keshav to chair the board with effect from June 1.

Keshav takes over from founding independent nonexecutive chair Dr Anna Mokgokong, who retired from the board on May 31. Nomfundo Qangule, also a founding independent nonexecutive director, has

The two have served on the board since Rebosis listed in 2011. The new board tenure policy states that board members can serve for no more than nine years.

Mokgokong said that under her leadership the nominations committee started a comprehensive review of the board structure with a view to strengthening its independence, diversity, knowledge, skills and experience.

“I am satisfied that my and Ms Qangule’s decision not to stand for re-election paves the way for new independent nonexecutives to be introduced to the board while retaining sufficient corporate memory,” Mokgokong said.

Rebosis appointed three new independent nonexecutive directors: Monica Khumalo, with 25 years of experience in the property sector; Paul Serote, a chartered accountant; and advocate Oratile Moselehi, a seasoned professional with more than two decades post-qualification and property experience. Moselehi also serves as the lead independent director on the board of SA Corporate Real Estate.

The company also appointed Sandra Mqina as an executive director. She is the former head of operations at Delta Property Fund and joined Rebosis in December 2021 as head of commercial operations.

Rebosis is a JSE-listed real estate investment trust (Reit) which owns retail space, offices and industrial assets valued at R13bn.

mhlangad@businesslive.co.za

BusinessLIVE Comment Policy

We welcome comments that are civil and considered. Any comments that are racist, bigoted or vulgar are not allowed.

Please read our Comment Policy before commenting.

Comments

Community

Favorite

Tweet

Share

Sort by Best

Start the discussion...

Be the first to comment.